

MY HOBBY

There are so many neat rock formations, I love to collect different types of rocks. All the rocks that are included in my collection interest me by their looks, such as their color, texture, shape, and size. Sometimes, if I don't have anything to do, I go outside and look for more rocks that interest me, so more can be added to my collection. Most of the time, I usually find them at school. When I'm just walking around I spot a rock that looks cool, so I pick it up, and put it in my pocket or purse. When I get home from school I put the rocks that I picked up into my rock collection. There are so many, I hope I can find a place to put them all!

Everything has a specific reason for something that has happened. The way I accomplished getting started collecting rocks was actually kind of an accident. It was the day my cousin Lezley was visiting. We went outside to jumprope when a rock was drug by the rope and hit my foot. When I looked down I thought it had a weird shape. Then I started finding out that there were many shapes and sizes of rocks. Then I found more rocks and started keeping them. So now it has been four years, and I probably have about 500 rocks. Somethings have a particular way and time for it to happen.

I usually take about an hour caring for my rocks. First I wash them and dry them off with a towel. Next I set them outside to get the moisture that is in between the cracks. Then I polish them with car wax. Then repeat this same process again. Finally I set them in their box until the next day. Now you can finally see that caring for something you like takes a lot of responsibility.
